Object agreement and locality

I discuss object agreement in different types of infinitival constructions including multiple infinitives. My focus is on patterns where there are mismatches between definiteness agreement and the 1SG.SUBJ+2.OBJ marker -lak/lek, addressing whether different accounts of the -lak/lek form can successfully predict these differences. The result is a proposal where there is more emphasis on the role of the infinitive itself and the interaction between the properties of both of the clauses. Some initial steps towards a theory of clausal referentiality are also suggested.
